

Uncork your telephone savings

Two years of streamlined, cost-cutting telephony

The champagne corks are popping at Brooks Deacon. After two years of rationalising our customers' phone lines and billing systems, we're celebrating our success – and our customers' increased profitability.

Along the way we've learned that there's almost no limit to the savings we can uncover. Beneath every multi-site or multi-line company with a legacy telephone system, there's a mass of hidden telephone costs. And it's our job to burst that bubble of inflated phone charges.

Who are the Brooks Deacon Partnership?

We're the stiletto-wearing duo who, in 2005, set out to stamp out unnecessary telephone costs. Two years later we're still on the case. All our original customers are with us still – and many new ones have joined the party. To all of them we say a huge 'thank you'.

If you like what we've done for you, and you know someone else – friend, supplier, customer – who would love to save as much as you have, why not pass on the good news? Tell us their name, and we'll forward this newsletter on your behalf, click here.

How can we help you?

To those who have not yet stripped away the fat from their telephone systems, we say pick up the phone right now and call us on 0845 3454321. In a few weeks time, you could be popping your own celebratory champagne corks.

VOIP without tears

Free calls—and clear as a bell too

Opal, the business telecoms division of the Carphone Warehouse Group, is spearheading a revolution in VOIP. Opal's VOIP network is one of only a few of what are known as 'next generation networks'.

Their next generation network offers unified bandwidth for more data and clearer VOIP telephony. And the good news is that the Opal next generation network will be up and running soon – and ready for you to plug into.

To find out how you can cut operational costs with free site-to-site calls and guaranteed quality levels, call Rachel or Diane on 0845 3454321.

Don't hang up, spread the good news

Brooks Deacon can do so much more for your phones

If you're still blessing the day you called us in to sort out your telephone systems, you could do us a small favour. Jump to it and we may even turn up with one or two of our famous packets of biscuits.

There are thousands of organisations out there that can easily save money on their phone calls and systems. You probably know a few – friends, suppliers, customers – who could save as much as you have. You could do them – and us – a big favour by passing on the phone-saving message. If you're happy to give us their names, we'll forward this newsletter on your behalf, click here.
